Astounding Astronomy, Spring 2012

There is a stunning sequence of astronomical/astrological events happening in May and June. I think we will be forever changed afterwards. It is a wonderful opportunity to hold the vision of change you want in the world, your community and yourself. It is the time to be aware of and take responsibility for your thoughts, words, emotions and actions more than ever before.

The big trio of events are

- May 5, The Super Moon
- May 20/21, The Amazing “Grand Pleiadian” Solar Eclipse Alignment
- June 5/6, The Venus Transit

Each of these events represents the expansion of the feminine energies and encourages balance between the masculine and feminine sides of everything.

All of this is followed by Solstice on June 20, 2012, the day of greatest daylight on one side of the planet, and the day of greatest night on the other side of the planet. It also is a time of balance.

Spiritual Metaphysics

If nothing exists beyond the consciousness of Infinite Being, then the universe was formed within, not outside of, its consciousness. The spiritual source of all life, Infinite Being, is therefore greater than the universe which it created within itself. From this expansive point of view, God the Original Creator is greater than all manifestation and, yet, is aware of every part of that manifestation.

Research in spiritual metaphysics does not take place in the laboratory. Instead, it’s an inside job. The primary research tool of spiritual metaphysics is meditation. ~ Owen Waters

“Super Moon” May 5

The biggest full moon of the year is due to arrive this weekend.

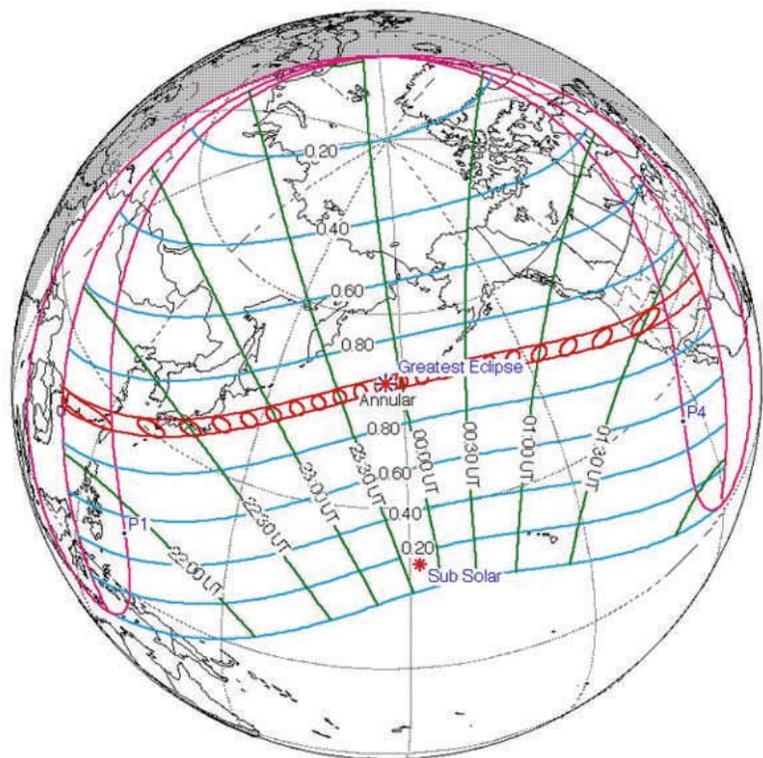

The moon will officially become full Saturday (May 5) at 11:35 p.m. EDT. And because this month’s full moon coincides with the moon’s perigee — its closest approach to Earth — it will also be the year’s biggest.

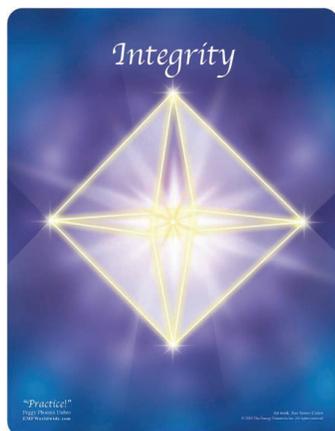

Full moons affect us all in many ways, but in particular can play with our emotions. Keep your heart full, and it will grow even fuller. Think about all the wonderful memories held in your mind and relive those beautiful emotions you have stored within.

The Solar Eclipse, May 20/21

This eclipse will be viewed as a partial eclipse in the area of the map covered in blue cross-hatches. It will be viewed as an annular eclipse from the red area of the map.

In an annular – or ring – eclipse, the moon crosses directly in front of the sun, much as it does during a total solar eclipse. But, at an annular eclipse, the moon is too far away in its monthly orbit around Earth to appear large enough in our sky to cover the sun completely. So, at mid-eclipse – instead of the moon covering the sun completely, as in a total eclipse, turning the sky dark and blotting the sun from view – in an annular eclipse a ring surrounds the moon silhouette. This dazzling ring is the outer edge of the sun.

Quotation from Peggy Phoenix Dubro

We have the charge of wholeness. We take it out into the world, and it will affect our reality and our surroundings. It will bring balance and wholeness into our lives, and it will change the chemicals within our bodies.

Hold and maintain this energy with integrity!

The Amazing “Grand Pleiadian” Solar Eclipse Alignment

This May 2012 will witness a most rare and unique event, an annular solar eclipse and Pleiadian alignment, occurring on May 20 and 21.

The Pleiadian alignment itself happens only once every 26,000 years, along with a full solar eclipse, which makes it an extraordinary “once in a lifetime” astronomical event which most would agree should not be missed, especially if you’re located in the geographical areas where the solar eclipse will be viewable.

The Pleiades have been revered by the Maoris of New Zealand, the Australians Aborigines, the Tamils of India, the ancient Persians and Zoroastrians, the Chinese, the Japanese, the Maya, the Aztec, as well as the Sioux and Cherokee. The Pleiades group is an open star cluster located on the shoulder of Taurus the bull, existing approximately [400 to] 500 light years from Earth. There are 250-500 stars within the cluster, although only nine have been named. Most ancient cultures claim seven stars. They are said to be the daughters of Atlas. One legend says that Orion was so enamoured by the seven sisters that he pursued them relentlessly. Zeus grew weary of the pursuit, and placed the seven sisters and Orion in the sky where Orion continues to chase the sisters.

This annular eclipse begins over the Earth's sixth chakra in Ten Ri City, Japan, then cuts across the US, over Shasta, the Hopi Nation and ends at the "Heart of the Dove" in Lubbock, Texas. This alignment of the Sun, the Moon and the Pleiades also puts us into a direct line to Alcyone, the Central Sun of this neck of the galaxy around which our little solar system rotates. And, as you know, the Pleiades has been linked by the Mayans, Aztecs and Egyptians as the constellation most responsible for the Ascension and evolution of the Human Race.

The Pleiades Cluster, Seven Sisters

The upcoming eclipse lines up directly with Alcyone, the sister whose name means “the queen who wards off evil”.

Effects of Solar Eclipses

It seems that Solar Eclipses have a profound effect on the Earth's subtle energy grids and ley lines. All powerful events that occur on Earth leave energetic memory imprints in the Earth's energy grids. These can become amplified and perpetuated by the energy flow through the grids, which is fed by the movements of the Sun, Moon and planets overhead. Powerful negative imprints, such as war, misuse of power or emotional trauma can block or damage the energy flow in a particular region of the planet, causing the energy to become distorted.

Eclipses provides opportunities to release these negative energy imprints and enable new, positive patterns to become encoded into the Earth grids.

Hamish Miller, the renowned UK dowser, found that as an Eclipse shadow passes overhead, the Earth's subtle energy lines power down to almost nothing, becoming indiscernible to dowsing; then as the Sun's light returns, the grids spring back into life. This is a bit like deleting an old computer programme, loading a new one, and then re-booting the system. Annular Eclipses have a very subtle effect on the energy grids, releasing, transforming and healing the etheric energy 'blueprint' that can enable new spiritual archetypes to emerge into collective consciousness.

Legend of the Plumed Serpent, bringer of Wisdom, and the Rainbow Serpent, bringer of Unity

Author Robert Coon describes two major Earth energy lines, or Dragon lines, encircling the planet from east to west. These are the 'Plumed Serpent' or Great Male Dragon line, and the 'Rainbow Serpent' or Great Female Dragon line. They are like the two primary acupuncture 'meridians' of the global energy system, similar to the two main yang and yin acupuncture meridians in the human body – the Governor Vessel and the Conception Vessel. Everything else in the Earth's energy grids is fed by these two vast circulating reservoirs of spiritual life-force energies.

The path of the Annular Eclipse on 20th May/May 21st will intersect the Plumed Serpent – Great Male Dragon line at two locations – Mount Fuji in Japan and Mount Shasta in California. Adak Island is the pivotal point, lying almost exactly midway between these two sacred mountains, and is the nearest land to the point of maximum eclipse.

Mount Shasta is believed to be the base of the arch-angel Michael dimensional vortex, and sit above the lost Lemurian city of Telos. It is where the 1987 Harmonic Convergence celebration took place with thousands of people. There is another celebration taking place there for this event.

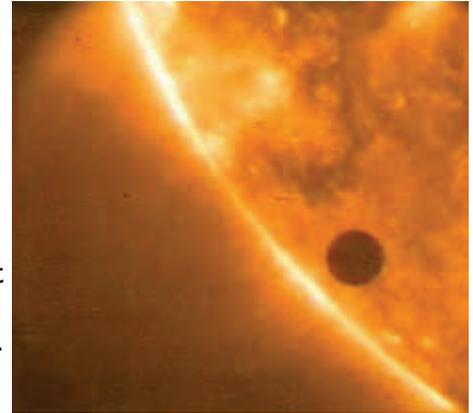

The Venus Transit, June 5/6

On June 5/6, we here on planet earth are going to be experiencing a rare and spectacular event known as the Venus Transit. In fact, it is the last time we will see it in our lifetime as it will not happen again until 2117.

The Venus Transit is essentially an eclipse only instead of the moon coming between the earth and the sun it is the planet Venus. Now Venus will not actually ECLIPSE the sun as it dwarfs in size, instead it will look (to those who can actually look at the sun during the transit) like a small black dot. An interesting and spectacular event nonetheless and people around the world will gather to view the transit.

The transit will take approximately 6 hours to complete and can be seen at different places at different times. Fortunately, most of the populated areas of the earth will actually be able to witness it. Some at sunset on the 5th (as here in North America) and others (Europe for example) will see it at sunrise on the 6th.

Interestingly, the Venus Transit happens in pairs 8 years apart. The last one happened in 2004. Eight in numerology is the number of Responsibility. This is the time to take responsibility for our thoughts, words, emotions and actions in the energy of Love. Both the Venus transit of 2004 and 2012 happen in the energy of Gemini, the twins. It is another sign of the merging and balancing of the two powerful energies of our world, the masculine and feminine.

Kryon says that Venus, the Goddess of Love is helping to develop an energy that's earth specific, and which is sending a pattern of loving feminine love to the sun, which is then broadcast to us through the grid. He suggests it may be a time of balancing the masculine-feminine energy in our lives.

He goes on to say the following:

I'll make two statements, and both of them will be of the kind called "unbelievable." (1) Masculine-heavy governments won't be able to exist on the planet. (2) No masculine-heavy religion will be able to exist on this planet. Neither one can be supported, and they won't make sense to a changing consciousness.

We have the opportunity to re-write the balance of masculine and feminine both on the planet and within ourselves, and we are being given the support of the Goddess of Love.
